ORDER

Adopted: October 20, 2009

Released: October 20, 2009

By the Acting Chief, Telecommunications Access Policy Division, Wireline Competition Bureau:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. In this order, we deny seven appeals of decisions by the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) denying applications for discounted telecommunications services under the schools and libraries universal service support mechanism (also known as the E-rate program) because the applicants' service providers were not telecommunications carriers, as required by program rules.¹

II. BACKGROUND

2. Under the E-rate program, eligible schools, libraries, and consortia that include eligible schools and libraries may apply for discounts for eligible telecommunications services, Internet access,

In this order, we use the term "appeals" to generically refer to requests for review of decisions issued by USAC. Section 54.719(c) of the Commission's rules provides that any person aggrieved by an action taken by a division of USAC may seek review from the Commission. 47 C.F.R. § 54.719(c).

and internal connections.² Applicants may obtain discounts on Internet access and internal connections irrespective of whether they purchase those offerings from telecommunications or non-telecommunications carriers.³ To receive E-rate discounts on “telecommunications services,” however, applicants must purchase those services from entities that are “telecommunications carriers.”⁴ The term “telecommunications carrier” includes only “provider[s] of telecommunications service,” which Congress defined as “the offering of telecommunications for a fee directly to the public, or to such classes of users as to be effectively available to the public, regardless of the facilities used.”⁵

3. Requests for Review. All seven petitioners—Hancock School District (Hancock), Holgate School District (Holgate), Mel Blount Youth Home (Mel Blount), Nicholas County School District (Nicholas), Pleasants County School District (Pleasants), Questa Independent Schools (Questa), and Seven Hills Classical Academy (Seven Hills)—ordered telecommunications services but did not receive their services from telecommunications carriers.⁶ USAC rejected six of the funding requests and sought recovery of funds disbursed to the seventh on the grounds that all seven applicants sought telecommunications services from service providers that were not telecommunications carriers, as required by program rules.⁷

³ See 47 C.F.R. §§ 54.501(a), 54.503 (eligibility for services provided by telecommunications carriers); 54.517(b) (services provided by non-telecommunications carriers).

⁷ See Letter from USAC, Schools and Libraries Division, to Linda Alexander, Hancock School District at 7 (dated Sept. 8, 2005); Letter from USAC, Schools and Libraries Division, to Currie Sutton, Holgate School District at 5 (dated Sept. 19, 2006); Letter from USAC, Schools and Libraries Division, to Annie Jackson, Mel Blount Youth Home at 5 (dated Jan. 25, 2006); Letter from USAC, Schools and Libraries Division, to Currie Sutton, Nicholas County School District at 6 (dated Aug. 25, 2003); Letter from USAC, Schools and Libraries Division, to Currie Sutton, Pleasants County School District at 8 (dated Apr. 26, 2006); Letter from USAC, Schools and Libraries Division, to Joseph Aragon, Questa Independent School District at 4 (dated Apr. 17, 2001); Letter from USAC, Schools and Libraries Division, to Johana Sand, Seven Hills Classical Academy at 5 (dated Oct. 24, 2006); see also USAC Service Provider List.

4. In their appeals to the Commission, the petitioners claim that USAC inappropriately denied their requests for funding. Holgate, Mel Blount, and Pleasants argue that the Commission's rules do not require that cellular service be provided by a telecommunications carrier on a common carriage basis.⁸ Hancock asserts that there is no requirement that paging service be provided by telecommunications carriers.⁹ Additionally, Hancock, Mel Blount, and Pleasants County assert that their providers are resellers and that resellers do not have to be common carriers.¹⁰ Questa contends that it should receive funding because it relied on USAC's approval of its Service Provider Identification Number (SPIN) change request as confirmation that its new provider of telecommunications services was a telecommunications carrier.¹¹ Nicholas does not address the issue of the status of its carrier but rather states that its provider is authorized to resell cellular service and that "the FCC mandates that resale of cellular service is allowed to occur."¹² Lastly, Seven Hills explains that, while USAC denied it funding because the service provider listed on its application was not a telecommunications carrier, it actually received service from a different provider.¹³ Neither Seven Hills nor the USAC website provides any evidence that the second provider was or is a telecommunications carrier. Rather, Seven Hills simply states that Seven Hills is a new charter school for which this funding is vital.¹⁴

III. DISCUSSION

5. We deny the petitioners' appeals. As explained above, program rules require that applicants seeking telecommunications services must obtain such services from telecommunications carriers. Non-telecommunications carriers are only eligible for E-rate support for providing voice mail, Internet access, and installation and maintenance of internal connections and cannot receive E-rate support for providing telecommunications service.¹⁵ Contrary to the assertions of Holgate, Mel Blount, Pleasants, and Hancock, cellular service and paging service are clearly listed as telecommunications services in the relevant E-rate Eligible Services Lists, and therefore, are subject to the Commission's requirements regarding providers of telecommunications services.¹⁶ In addition, the relevant Eligible Services Lists and the relevant FCC Form 471 instructions for all petitioners explicitly stated that telecommunications services could only be obtained from telecommunications carriers.¹⁷ In evaluating the underlying applications, USAC determined that, although the services sought were telecommunications services, none of the service providers at issue were telecommunications carriers. None of the petitioners offers any evidence to indicate that they received their telecommunications services from telecommunications carriers.¹⁸ Accordingly, based on the record before us, we affirm USAC's decisions that the petitioners' service providers were not telecommunications carriers, as required by program rules.

IV. ORDERING CLAUSES

6. ACCORDINGLY, IT IS ORDERED that, pursuant to the authority contained in sections 1-4 and 254 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. §§ 151-154 and 254, and pursuant to the authority delegated in sections 0.91, 0.291, and 54.722(a) of the Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. §§ 0.91, 0.291, and 54.722(a), the requests for review listed in the Appendix ARE DENIED.

7. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, pursuant to section 1.102(b)(1) of the Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. § 1.102(b)(1), this order SHALL BE EFFECTIVE upon release.
